Capital Shopping Centres is a wholly owned subsidiary of Liberty International PLC. CSC is the leading company in the UK specialising in shopping centres and has a £6.4billion portfolio of thirteen high quality shopping centres across the country all maintained by Integral UK. The Glades, which opened in 1981, forms a major part of Bromley's shopping offer with a mall and retail links to the traditional High St.

When The Glades wanted new reception desks out on the Mall, the Interiors division of Integral UK stepped in and, in conjunction with Joint Venture joinery manufacturer, Simon Kohn (Furniture) Ltd, designed, built and installed two desks that met the needs of the staff, customers and management of The Glades.

The desks were fully manufactured off site enabling the on-site work being to be kept to a minimum and therefore causing as minimal disruption to the centre as possible. Both desks were fully integrated with IT, power and security as well as providing work stations and storage for the staff working on each desk. A feature on one desk was to incorporate a "sail" overhead, this was achieved by using a Barrisol "stretch ceiling" supported off the canopy and an adjacent column.
